

Contract architecture design «Sino-Swiss Exchange Center.»

The ethos of Davide Macullo Architects has developed into «cross-experiences» and «cultural exchange.»

«For us it is the first time we have won an architect competition in China. It is an interesting experience and challenging at the same time. The design of the Sino-Swiss Exchange Center in Tianjin shall offer Swiss clean technologies an attractive platform.»

Davide Macullo, Principal, Davide Macullo Architects

With the signing ceremony of a Memorandum of Understanding between Osec and Jingmei Group in August 2010, witnessed by the President of Switzerland and the Chinese Minister of Commerce and facilitated by Cleantech Switzerland, a strategic partnership has started. The Jingmei Group developed several fields of activities to strengthen the cooperation with Switzerland. Therefore projects in Beijing and Tianjin have been chosen to start with.

Close to the international airport of Tianjin on a large scale real estate and commercial development site a Sino-Swiss Exchange Center shall be established. Clean technologies, exhibitions, seminars and events shall strengthen the cooperation for a better environment in China. Davide Macullo Architects, an international architecture studio, was invited amongst others to take part in the competition for the interior design of the Sino-Swiss Exchange Center. Due to the Swiss cleantech content of the center, the innovative design and cross-cultural approach Davide Macullo Architects won the competition.

Davide Macullo lives and works in Lugano, Switzerland. He graduated from the Professional University of Art & Design in Lugano and has been a member of the Swiss Register of Architects and Engineers since 1998. He began his career in the atelier of Mario Botta in 1990 as project architect with responsibility for international projects. In 2000 he opened his own atelier and is currently involved in projects in Switzerland, Italy, Holland, Greece, France, South Korea and (new) China. His work has been published and acclaimed both at home and abroad.

«It is our pleasure to work together with Cleantech Switzerland and have the opportunity to partake in and hopefully win, future architecture competitions in China.»
