Light play

Run For The Hills is delighted to share its latest hospitality project - Heartbreaker, a destination cocktail bar and lounge newly launched in Worthing, the pretty seaside town in West Sussex. The project is a true collaboration between Run For The Hills' branding and interiors teams; designing not just the inside of the bar with all the joineries, banquette seating, decorative lighting and furnishings, but also originating the brand, the logo, signage, wayfinding and drinks menu design. Address: The Broadway 3, Brighton Rd – Worthing, UK www.runforthehills.com

Expressive façade

Designed by Baldrige Architects the ARRIVE Austin Hotel comprises eighty-three rooms situated within a five-story, L-shaped tower and adjoining two-story podium which houses two restaurants, three bars, a coffee shop, leasable street-side retail space and parking. The owners required a dynamic hotel that eschewed brand and established a subtly powerful focal point that knits into the rapidly developing Plaza Saltillo neighborhood. Address: 1813 E 6th St, 78702 - Austin, USA www.baldrige-architects.com

Nature, Art, Perception, Territory

Set in the woods of the village of Rossa, in the Calanca Valley, Swiss, undertaken by Davide Macullo Architects ISPACE is a project of 8 timber pavilions and sculptures born out of the idea of combining art and architecture to create environments that stimulate people to perceive the influence of a space on their moods.
